The New England Association of Schools and Colleges (NEASC) develops and applies standards to assess the educational effectiveness of elementary, secondary and collegiate educational institutions. NEASC promotes comprehensive school improvement for high schools that begins with a self-assessment by the school and community and includes on-site evaluation by a peer review team and continuous improvement through follow-up activities. NEASC also publishes standards and assessment guides and manuals to inform and educate the broader public and schools (e.g. NEASC Manual for School Evaluation).
